of Brooklyn. Arthur Vosburgh of Rochesiand Mrs. Anna V. C. Leavitt of Buffalo. Judge Tallman was the principal speaker for the Scientists.

The hearing lasted over four hours and another hearing will be given on Wednesday next. The Scientists attacked the hill on every ground imaginable. It was held up as a horrible octopus of medicine and in the interests of the doctors' trust. Every speaker related cures that had been effected by the Scientists. Mr. Baldwin told of himself, his wife and six children having been cured by faith. Mr. Lathrop asked: "All of you who have been cured by Christian Science stand up? Instantly about 500 persons were on their feet. He simply waved his hands as a signal that that was all that was necessary to convince the committee of the efficacy of Christian Science. The Scientists contended that the bill was a blow at their inherent right of freedom of opinion and action and to compel them to use medicine against their will.

Dr. Henry I. Elsner of Svracuse, president of the New York State Medical Society, attacked the fulth cure at length, pointing out the dangers to which it subjected the public. He said he had no obtection to their practing Christian Science if they would show their competency to treat diseases. He spoke of the advancement made in medical science and said physicians did not believe in one single way of treating diseases, but were after the greatest good for the greatest mumber.

No physician, he declared, ever objected to priest, minister or spiritual adviser praving with a paitent, for it was something that nearly every person wished when ill, and did g od, but the remedies that fied gave to science to use for mankind were what was wanted to cure and prevent disease.

A letter was read from W. C. Murphy, president of the New York Board of Health, decloring the increase of Christian Science in New York eds.

The chances are that when the good people of this town get up this morning, they will find the earth well blanketed. There is even a likelihood that the snow will keep on coming until tonight, when the storm will have passed and colder, clear weather will take its place. This is what Mr. Emery said yesterday and if he was right about it there ought to be some mighty good sleighing to-day. Likewise will it mean much work for Street Cleaning Commissioner Nagle and his snow contractor. All preparations were completed last night for a busy day to-day in getting the snow off the streets.
